Rev. Wilson - just a couple of things. Wanted first to let you know that I am progressing satisfactorily in my therapy with _____ I have also been taken off all medications, and as such, I am no longer seeing _____. There is the matter of the final bill they keep sending me - I've included it with this letter and I hope you will take care of this for me.

The other issue concerns not only you, but the church in the Fort Worth area. As I'm sure you're aware of, Catholic clergy have been called in to question as relates to alleged abuse, past and present, at the hands of Catholic priests. Seeing all the news reports _____ is causing me no small amount of consternation and some anxiety. I really want to know what all that can be done is being done to not only prevent more abuse by clergy, but bring to light any past violations by clergy, in matters of your present positions in the church. This problem isn't one that will go away anytime soon. And after hearing the awful rhetoric proffered by church hierarchy during the recent meeting at the Vatican, I hope you decide to take the most proactive stance possible and disclose what needs disclosing. I'm sure it isn't really need to tell you what could happen if you had the chance to be above-board and honest with your parishioners and didn't take it, do I? The backlash rippling through not only local Catholics, but across the country has the potential to be enormous (and in some cases, is already happening).

Thank you for your time, and thank you for helping me.

CONFIDENTIAL MEMORANDUM

To: Files
From: Bishop Delaney
Subject: Msgr. James Reilly, Meeting with Date: May 5, 2002

I met yesterday at the Catholic Center with a 12-year-old boy. He had spoken about being abused by Monsignor James Reilly to his Father James Gigliotti, the pastor of St. Mary Goretti, where he grew up and where his parents still live. JG called me last Monday, and I set up the meeting.

He told of staying overnight one time at the rectory when he was in 5th or 6th grade and being fondled and kissed on the mouth by JR. He recalls it very well and looks back on it with anger, but feels that the event did not affect him long-term. He also said that JR paid for his tuition even though his family could have easily afforded to pay it.

He also told me that several months ago he happened to be with several other classmates, men whom he sees very infrequently, when the conversation turned to sexual abuse and two of them said that they had the very same experience with JR.

He did not want any specific outcome. He insists that he does not need counseling, since the event did not affect him. He just wanted us to know to be sure that we do something to prevent this kind of thing happening to others. I assured him that we have policies in place. But we discussed the problem when children or youth are reluctant or unable to tell anyone about abuse.

Since I had spoken to JG about the mention of the boy's name, I will call him tomorrow to tell him that there is nothing to pursue in that regard.

Jim, I met with the man you called me about and I heard from him about what happened many years ago. Thank God it was not more serious. He insists that he just wanted us to know about it and wants to drop it. I offered him counseling, but he declined, insisting that the incident had not affected him. I urged him to invite his friends to call me if they want to talk about it. — By the way, talking with Bob Wilson, it turns out that we are aware of the other person whom you met in your office, and we are providing counseling for him. It didn't click the other day when you mentioned it. — Thanks very much for handling the matter so well. You may want to keep your ear to the ground in case there are other people that may need to talk. Thanks.

Dear

Thank you for your letter of April 29. I have paid the bill from

It is good to and indeed that you are no

I am sorry that current news events are causing you anxiety. I suppose they are for all of us. Certainly they are for me. Be assured that Bishop Delaney has always been up front in dealing with accusations openly and honestly, and with respect. This weekend he is taking our Sexual Misconduct Policy to the Diocesan Pastoral Advisory Council for review. This is his primary advisory council, and is made up of two thirds lay people and one third clergy. Also, we have implemented a new policy named "Keeping Children Safe." There many provisions, but the main one is to always have two people working with any underage group.

Please pray for all victims of sexual abuse and also for those of us attempting to keep our children safe. You will be in my prayers.

Sincerely yours in Christ,

Rev. Robert W. Wilson

Hi Bob, Thanks for your guidance yesterday. When I'd spoken with the Bishop last year, he assured me it was appropriate to communicate with him via e-mail as it was secure. So I'm assuming this applied to your mail. Hope I'm correct?

I talked with _____ yesterday and _____ former member here. His number is _____ Gave him your number and perhaps he communicated with you and told you what he had to say, concerning himself also.

He called today and left me _____ number in _____ and I just spoke with him. We had a good conversation. He would like to speak with you and gave me permission to give you his number and e-mail number. I told him the Diocese would help with fees for counseling. He said he just began therapy and it is helping.

Bob, larger issue he presents is anger at Church for unhealthy stance on celibacy. From that meandering, it gets down to Msgr. and his taking advantage of the very young. The final being _____ and probably the meatiest one, as a power issue. Who has the power? Why not "sister power"? Selfishness of clerics, and on and on.

He's quite civil and organized in his thinking. But there's obviously years of stuffing and this is the most animated, appropriately so, I've ever heard from _____. My dealings prior to this is his emotional withdrawal and sadness. He also named _____ from years ago as a religious Brother.

To be specific, we're talking here about physical touch and attempted kisses. I've yet to hear penetration, witnessed a kissing fest in the sacristy years ago where _____ came in after Mass to priest sacristy and there was quite a display of physical passion. _____ test he can communicate with you. It's more of the same of grabbing, groping but not genital sex. _____ I've never heard _____ when angry that he lived in a state of fear during his grade school years, and then in high school with _____ charge.

His e-mail _____
His phone number is _____

I'm leaving for two weeks tomorrow _____ told _____ he thought I should preach about this from the pulpit, saying Msgr.'s name and asking any "victims" to step forward for offers of help.

I told him we had to define our terms _____ regarding descriptions of sexual abuse, as people would jump immediately into rape or like-kind. _____ understood that. But he regards any touch unwanted by a powerful man to a young boy to be a form of this.

Whatever, I hope it does not come to this. And if it does, processing with you _____ or whomever would be a necessity so we're all on the same page.

I am very sorry for the pain you are in, and as Father Gigliotti told you, we would like to be part of the healing. I have asked Judy Locke, our Vicar's Assistance Coordinator to be in contact with you. She will authorize payments to the therapist that Fr. Gigliotti says you just began with. I am glad to hear from him that it is helping.

If you want to talk to someone from the bishop's office, I would be happy to do so, either in person or by phone. I will be at [redacted] except on Tuesday and Friday this week and next week. I then will be going on a mission trip to Honduras.

Dear

I am writing to update you regarding your counseling. I am sending a copy of this email to Father Robert Wilson, our Chancellor, so that he will know we have contacted each other and that support for counseling for you is in process. [redacted] left me a message last week and, for a few rounds, we played phone-tag. I now have her address and have mailed her a letter and information packet regarding Assistance Ministry here and the arrangements to be made for covering the cost of your counseling. Is there any information you would like from me that you think will be helpful at this time?

you may already have spoken about this abuse with someone from the church, but know that since this occurred in the Fort Worth Diocese, I am more than willing to receive your report in any manner that would be helpful to you. I also respect you entirely if you would rather not make a report beyond what you have already shared at this time. Once again, I am deeply sorry this abuse and suffering was imposed upon you, and I am more than willing to be of help to you in any way that I can.
